CARR WANTS PARDON

Lyndon J. Carr of Washington, sentenced to two to four years in State Prison on a morals charge, has filed a pardon petition with the Secretary of State's department. Carr, committed in April of last year said in his petition he thought he had been punished for a crime "I did not know I had committed." He also said his parents needed his assistance. His petition, with others, will be considered by Gov. Barrows and Executive Council at pardon hearings April 6.

THE SNOW BOWL CARNIVAL

Take a Look-See At the Program, and You'll
Have the Urge To Attend

The whole county is anxiously awaiting the results of the Carnival Queen Contest, to see who will reign throughout the festivities of the Snow Bowl Carnival to be held Feb. 18-22. Tons of ice have been cut to be used in the construction of the ice throne in the beautiful Library Amphitheatre. Thousands of people are expected to attend the Coronation Friday night, when the Queen amidst a pageant of regal splendor will be invested with her Royal duties. Over 75 persons will be in the cast of this pageant including the well known Camden High School Band in colorful costumes. Immediately after the ceremony the Queen and her Court will be transported to the Opera House where the gifts will be presented during the Coronation Ball. The Carnival will then officially be opened and the following four days and nights crowded with exciting events.

Waterville Skating Club
Thirty-two expert fancy skaters dressed in fetching attire will give an exhibition of fancy skating in singles, doubles, and group formation on the ice at the Snow Bowl, Sunday evening Feb. 20. This exhibition will be staged under hundreds of colored lights and huge flood lights. This skating group has appeared before many carnival crowds this winter and has proven to be a great feature.

The Lodge, skate house, hockey rink and the surrounding area of the Camden Outing Club have been outlined with electrical streamers.

The Sunday Events
Sunday afternoon over twenty horses will be entered in the races to be run on the ice. Gov. Barrows will arrive at 3 p. m. to extend his greetings to all winter sports enthusiasts. An old fashioned wood chopping, wood sawing, and nail driving contest will be held for which many entries have already been received. Special exhibition

Faithful Patrolman Shot On Duty

John D. Chapman Victim of Assassin's Bullet,
Fired In Spirit of Revenge—Harry B. Hall
of State Street Held on a Murder Charge

Arraigned before Judge Zelma M. Dwinall at the Court House this forenoon, Harry B. Hall pleaded "not guilty" and was held for the May term of Knox County Superior Court. Hall was represented by Harry E. Wilbur, and the State was represented by Jerome C. Burrows. Examination was waived. The hearing lasted two minutes.

John Donald Chapman, night patrolman on the Southend beat, and regarded as one of the most capable police officers in the State, was shot dead at the corner of Main and Park streets at 6.30 last night. Death resulted almost instantly from a bullet wound in the right eye.

Harry B. Hall, a well known resident of 38 State street was taken into custody within a few moments after the shooting, and at 1 o'clock this morning the officials said they were in possession of his signed statement admitting the crime. He will be arraigned on a murder charge this forenoon.

Revenge appears to have been the motive of the tragedy, which has shocked Rockland to its foundations.

Hall was arrested by Officer Chapman at 4 o'clock yesterday morning on a charge of drunkenness, after having promised the patrolman that he would quit the street and go to his home.

The confession which the authorities say he made tells definitely of his having gone to his home about 3 p. m. after his revolver, with one purpose in view—to shoot Chapman or be shot.

Patrolman Chapman went onto his beat at the usual hour last night in excellent spirits. His last act before entering upon his official duties was to listen to a newly purchased radio, and he was looking forward with eager anticipation to buying a new automobile on the morning.

The stillness of the early evening was broken by a single revolver shot and pedestrians bound for the motion picture theatres were horrified to see Chapman fall face forward upon the pavement from his position on the southern corner of Park and Main streets.

Among the early arrivals on the scene was Charles H. McIntosh, who had formerly served with Chapman on the police force. Although the officer was seemingly dead as he fell, McIntosh turned the body from its face down position, to see if anything could be done.

In this position the body was photographed, and a few moments later removed to the Russell undertaking parlors, where an extended autopsy was made in the small hours of the night.

Meantime there had swung into action one of the most powerful forces of law and order that has ever assembled under one roof in Rockland—police, sheriffs, State police and officers of the Inshore Coast Patrol.

The investigation was conducted by Sheriff C. Earle Ludwick at the Court House, that official's first act being to summon into the case Lieut. Leon P. Shepard, finger print and ballistic expert; and Dr. Archie Morrell, pathologist, of Augusta, who was to assist the county medical examiner, Dr. H. J. Weisman. Shepard and Morrell were on the scene in surprisingly short order, and in the former's custody was placed the 32 calibre revolver taken from Hall's person, and said by the officers to have been the weapon with which the shooting was done. This weapon had been jealously guarded after it performed its fatal errand, nobody being permitted to touch it. A report will shortly be forthcoming from the laboratory in Augusta.

The assemblage of witnesses, whose testimony was taken down by two stenographers, went on apace. Sheriff Ludwick was able to report at midnight that four eye witnesses had been examined (with others in prospect) but declined to have their names made known at that time.

Mike Armata, clothing store proprietor, was quoted as saying that he saw Hall cross the street, drawing a revolver from his pocket as he did so. To him it seemed as if Chapman undertook to draw his gun after the shot had been fired.

Deputy Marshal Walter J. Fernald was off duty last night because of sickness in the family and police headquarters, upon the departure of City Marshal Arthur D. Fish for the scene of the tragedy was left in charge of Patrolman Charles H. Emery, who suddenly found himself the center of some distracting duties.

Hall's arrest was accomplished by Special Officers Myron Drinkwater, Forrest K. Hatch and Robert E. Sadler, who took the prisoner to the Court House.

Hall's signed confession, typed by Miss Pearl Borgerson, was in the hands of Sheriff Ludwick and County Attorney Jerome C. Burrows at 10 minutes of 1 this morning, and an outline of it was given to The Courier-Gazette reporter.

According to this statement Hall said that he went to his home on State street about 3 o'clock and searched through a bureau and two trunks, hunting for his revolver. This he described in detail—a nickel plated pearl-handled, 32 calibre weapon. "I had but one thing in mind," Hall is alleged to have said, "and that was to shoot Chapman or be shot."

He walked up to Chapman on the street last night, and said to him, according to the confession: "How good are you on the draw?"

Speaking thus he pulled the trigger of the revolver, but the weapon merely clicked as the chamber was not loaded, and he fired again, this time with the fatal results, and he started walking up Park street.

Hall is also said to have admitted the shooting in the presence of the special officers who arrested him, and alleged to have said that the deed was done in revenge because Chapman had arrested him.

police beats in the city Officer Chapman was a most conscientious worker in behalf of the people whom he served, and though considered strict by one element, had the respect of everybody. No better testimonial to his ability could be given than that furnished last night by Customs Inspector Claude U. Bishop, who said:

"Chapman was a big city cop in a small town."

Off duty, Patrolman Chapman's pleasing personality made friends for him everywhere, and the feeling throughout Rockland is that the citizens have met with a personal as well as a public loss.

The autopsy was performed at the Russell funeral parlors last night, revealing that the cause of death was due to a bullet wound beginning through the right eye, causing a destruction of brain tissue extending from the frontal lobe of the brain backwards, tearing considerable nerves. The bullet continued posteriorly, damaged parts of the temporal and occipital lobes of the brains. The bullet came to rest in the tentorium of the brain. The findings—murder by a 32 calibre bullet.

Funeral services will be held with Masonic rites Saturday at 2 o'clock from the Universalist Church. The Commandery will meet at the Asylum at 1 o'clock and serve as escort. Rev. H. R. Winchenbaugh will preach the funeral sermon.

Sheriff Ludwick acknowledges with gratitude the assistance he received last night from other officials, naming Chief of Police Arthur D. Fish, Patrolman Carl Christofferson, Fred E. Achorn, Forrest Hatch, Myron Drinkwater and Robert E. Sadler, Deputy Sheriff Ernest Gray, Customs Inspector Claude U. Bishop, Lieut. Leon P. Shepard, Lieut. John E. Marks and several of the State Police.

Mayor E. R. Veazie, who spent most of the night with the investigators said this morning:

"The tragic death of Officer Chapman is a shock to the entire city, not only that he died in line of duty, but because all who knew him appreciated his worth as a man and an officer. Don Chapman knew his duty and had the courage to perform it. My sincerest sympathy is extended to his mother and brother in their hour of great bereavement."

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

Back in my boyhood days when many independent companies were engaged in the manufacture of lime and 200 sail vessels claimed Rockland as their home port, the average daily wage in this city was $1.50, and the man who earned $2 a day was looked upon almost with awe. But many present day luxuries were not included in the cost of living. Kerosene lamps were still burning in some parts of the city, water was drawn from wells, women didn't postpone their Monday washing to keep a beauty parlor appointment, the door yard wasn't cluttered up with automobiles, and you could drive the family horse all day without colliding with a filling station. Beefsteak could be bought two pounds for a quarter, round hog at 5 cents a pound, pork steak 10 cents and calves' liver 5 cents.

Today the picture is quite different. If you want a drink of water you don't have to go out in the storm with a teakettle and thaw out the pump; you don't have to worry about tipping over the lantern and setting the barn afire; you can go to the movies and hear the actors talking as natural as life; you can board your car, go to an entertainment 100 miles a day, and be back before the curfew rings. Today it isn't the high cost of living; it's the cost of high living.

I don't hear so much nowadays about beechnuts, yet in my day the boys always used to go in search of them in preference to the bitter and pucky acorn. Lindsey Grove used to have a number of fine trees, and the ends of my fingers were always tender in the fall trying to extract the nuts from their hard three cornered shells.

The late E. B. Hastings established the present dry goods store 58 years ago, eventually succeeded by his son Albert M. Hastings, who is still carrying on. Rather an unusual record is attributed to this concern—never had a fire, never moved, never sued, never was sued, and never fired a clerk.

When I go to the pictures I dislike to have some "first nighter" tell me that it is "no good," or worse still, tell how it comes out. Neither do I want to be told, in advance of my reading it, how a book ends. And yet pests are not lacking who would destroy your anticipation.

"Sometime when you are in Tenants' Harbor it would pay you to visit Roy Meservey" writes Fred B. Wall of Jackson Heights, N. Y. He has as odd and as beautiful collection of addressed letters as one ever saw. They were addressed by F. S. Pellett, a summer visitor at the Harbor, and all of them have gone through the mails.

A friend of this column calls my attention to a poem entitled "Ello's Soliloquy," or "Lines on the Death of Seth Elliott who was Executed at Castletown for the murder of one of his children, Dec. 30, 1824." The contributor wonders if there are others who had ever heard of the event.

You heard lots about Boy Scouts on their anniversary week, but how many of you know that the first troop in this country was organized in Brewer?

In Cleveland, Ohio, 76 persons offered work to Andrew J. Habinek who inserted in the want column this advertisement:

"Man, young, unreliable, dishonest, lazy, doesn't want position but needs one; asst. mgr. personal consultant, etc.; short hours, big pay."

It would be interesting to know how long this audacious young person holds his new job.

A speaker in Gardiner the other night said that Edgar Arlington Robinson and Laura E. Richards had brought to that city renown that no other city of its size could claim. Up spoke the Lewiston Journal with the remark that Rockland might put in a bid, here in Maine, with Edna St. Vincent Millay and Maxine Elliott. It's nice to have friends at court—friends who appreciate facts.

That Number Of Samples and More Will March
To You At Community Fair Next Week

Entertainment so varied in character that it appeals to everybody is the layout next week at Community Fair. This variety program is made possible through the excellent work of the Lions amplifying system which allows every type program and talent to be presented.

Mrs. Clara Kelsey is chairman of entertainment and has utilized professional entertainers, musicians, local amateurs, school talent and enterprises of the ever popular baby show type. Among the high lights will be the remarkable pair of banjo artists who made such a hit with the W.P.A. Theatre troupe presentation at Community Building. They will be accompanied by the troupe's versatile piano leader, Miss May Pierce.

Too much cannot be said about the amazing free samples as listed on page eight, this issue. By actual count last Sunday 20,918 sample packages were in hand and since then have come several cases additional. These will be delivered to all comers at the doors as listed in the advertisement on page eight. In addition many substantial special door gifts will be given out in limited numbers such as dusters, dustpans, sandwich trays, etc.

The prizes this year are many and valuable, including a $25 prize each night, a grand prize Saturday of a Bendix Home Laundry and a Philco Radio Wednesday night. There will be special nightly prizes and a grand prize in connection with Chairman Milton M. Griffin's beano game. Hundreds of free prizes will be awarded at the huge Perry booth.

Every detail of the great fair Feb. 21-26, at Community Building is attended to in entirety with one exception and the efficient General Chairman Parker E. Worrey, has not as yet arranged it, and that is a certainty of perfect weather. It will be recalled that by some arrangement with the Weather Man all six days of the 1937 fair were mild and filled with sunshine. It is hoped that the same can be arranged for 1938. All proceeds of the great event and the Community Ball which takes place the evening of Feb. 28, under chairmanship of George Sleeper, will be devoted to operation of the civic welfare plant, Community Building.

Lions Heard of Proposed Nicaragua Canal From An Engineer

The Rockland Lions gave profitable attention yesterday to a highly interesting lecture on the proposed Nicaragua Canal, delivered by a member of the club, who served with the engineering expedition which made the preliminary survey a few years ago.

The speaker was Captain Keryn Ap Rice, son of the late Mervyn Ap Rice, former resident of Rockland, who supplemented his talk with a number of interesting maps which he made himself, and with some splendid photographs made while the survey was in progress.

The object of the proposed canal is to parallel the present Panama Canal, for substantial reasons which will appear later in this article.

When the Spaniards conquered Peru they helped themselves to something like $15,000,000 which they shipped back to Spain. In order to do this they had to send the money across the Isthmus and place it aboard a ship in Pacific waters. This was back in the 16th century, but the shrewd Spaniards saw the necessity of a canal and so they wrote home. Philip II was impressed with the idea.

Numerous surveys were subsequently made and the result was a recommendation that a canal be built at Nicaragua instead of Panama. But the former idea was turned down for several reasons, one of them being that the territory embraced several active volcanoes.

The Nicaragua Canal would save about 600 miles or 18 hours of sailing, not an impressive difference, but it meant that shippers would be enabled to send fresh fruit to Atlantic ports.

Of far more importance were the military reasons. It is within reason that the enemy could send a ship laden with dynamite into the Panama Canal and wreak much damage to the big ditch. Also with the present width of the Panama Canal ships must proceed single file and it would be easy for a waiting enemy to knock them off.

In 1928 President Hoover wanted to build a Nicaragua Canal and the Engineer Corps financed an expedition to make the survey. The sum of $150,000 was raised for this purpose and the Engineer Corps found itself in the position of the Israelites who had to make brick without straw.

Because of the varying heights of the waters it was found that a lock canal would be necessary. The engineers found the volcanoes active, and in Lake Nicaragua, which is 206 feet above sea level, they found fresh water sharks.

The canal needs must be wider and straighter than the Panama Canal to convenience the larger ships about to be built.

Captain Rice was detailed to the Caribbean end of the proposed canal, which was 200 miles from headquarters and well isolated. The country has a rainfall of 270 inches, and the progress through the canal could be made no faster than three-quarters of a mile an hour. The journey to the East Divide occupied four and one-half days. Trees 200 feet tall had fallen across the stream in places and the progress of the "dugouts" was necessarily slow. The engineers lived like primitive Indians in huts thatched with palm leaves.

Foy W. Brown of North Haven made his initial appearance as a full fledged Lion, and two visiting Lions were warmly welcomed—Charles Webster of the Vinal Haven Club and Lion Leonard of the Boston Club.

Allan J. Murray and Cleveland Sleeper, Jr., were appointed members of the entertainment committee for March.

Plenty Of Action

Promised For Tomorrow Night's Boxing Show At the Potato Bowl

There will be some lively mitt exchanges in the Potato Bowl Friday night if one is to judge from the attractive lay-out provided by the boxing promoters who have charge of the show.

Ponzi Cochran, who has fought so many good battles in Rockland and elsewhere in the State in the past few years, flashes into the limelight as a main bout star. In the opposite corner will be that boy who has had New Hampshire by the ears—Danny York of Rochester. York has fought some good battles in western Maine, but this will be his first invasion of the east.

Another Rockland boy who is good at fistfights, and who will be seen in the semi-finals, is "Cracker" Favreau. He has been chewing 10-penny nails and eating raw beef and his friends say it will be just too bad for Young Ted Drew, the Eddiford boy, who sits in the other chair.

Walter Reynolds, who fights from the drop of the hat, is to meet Babe Nelson in the top prelim, while "Slasher" Porter will meet "Tiger Bill" of Lewiston.

Leon Halstead will be the third man in the ring and Ken Moran will do the spouting.

The Maine Finger Printing School ends tomorrow, and marking the close will be the banquet at the Worcester House in Hallowell. Practically every police and sheriff department in the State has been represented, in addition to which Uncle Sam sent a number of federal officers. Sheriff Ludwick, who has been interested in the finger printing has not missed a session, despite hazardous traveling conditions.

The school has counted itself fortunate in having such an excellent instructor as Lieut. Shepard, who has not only attended several schools, but has made an intensive study of the subject, which is exciting such a wide influence on criminology. "He's one of the greatest guys on earth," is the terse and characteristic manner in which "Shep" is sized up by Sheriff Ludwick.

Gov. Barrows made a brief talk to the school, and complimented the students on the progress which has been made.

A complete course in the Henry System of Finger Printing has been offered. This modern criminal investigation system includes latent points, photography, pathology and ballistics.

Finger-printing Gov. Barrows occupied about two minutes. The results are on a civil finger card placed in a separate department from the criminal department, maintained by the Department of Justice in Washington and in the Bureau of Investigation in Augusta.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colman—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks lunk.

A more powerful movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

In the evening under a setting illuminated by hundreds of varicolored lights dancing will be held on the ice. At 9 o'clock the greatest winter display of fireworks ever held in the State of Maine will cleave the frosty air above the Snow Bowl and send its thunderous detonations to reverberate in the valley snuggled between the surrounding mountains. Plans are being worked out with the co-operation of the State Police to handle the traffic at this time, for it is anticipated that thousands of people will witness this spectacular pyrotechnical display.

The Closing Day

Foto Fans Met

The Friendly Foto Fans met Tuesday night at the Congregational Church. The subject assigned was "Portraits" and the work produced would bring commendation even to professionals. There were 16 entries which were displayed individually by print secretary Forest Pinkerton. Each exhibit was numbered which was the only means of identification and the members cast secret ballots for the best piece of work. It is significant that the president of the club, "Ray" Cross, received the most votes for his entry. It was a portrait of his wife in a very striking pose. His other entry "Choir Boy" was also a lovely thing. Other pictures worthy of mention were Lieutenant-Commander Robert C. Jewell's frame enlargement and Ernest Blackington's portrait of a child in colors.

Following the judging of the prints a practical demonstration of portrait work was put on by President Cross with his Recommarr, assisted by Jerome Burrows, Ernest Blackington and Charles Haveren. Percy Blaisdell was the unwilling subject. The films were developed immediately and although the original plan was to make prints the same evening this idea was given up because of the lateness of the hour and the failure of the negatives to dry quickly enough.

Charles Haveren offered two prizes for the best photos depicting the use of Haveren's soda. Prints must be submitted at the meeting of March 15th.

The program for the next meeting, March 1, will be an illustrated lecture on "Miniature Photography." It is not necessary to be a member to attend this or any other meeting. All persons interested in photography or any of its branches are cordially invited to come to any of the meetings.

Heard Seen Said AT THE NATION'S CAPITOL

By Clyde H. Smith, representing Maine's Second Congressional District
Age Limit Should Be Reduced And Payments Liberalized

The Nation's Capital, Feb. 15 (Special to The Courier-Gazette). This story should keep the promise made last week, of explaining, more in detail, the need for more liberal Old Age Assistance and the justice of reducing the age limit from 65 to 60 years.

We have for a long time been seeking to relieve unemployment by creating buying power. There has been little improvement—none of a permanent nature. The number now idle is about as great as ever; relief rolls are almost at the maximum. An all time peak for both is in prospect. Meanwhile, our national budget has grown larger and further from balance each year. The national debt has climbed to a figure, never before known, exceeding war time expenditures. This nation came nearer paying its bills while fighting a successful conflict on foreign soil than it has during the administering of its peace-time domestic affairs.

Sad as it may seem, we must accept the unwelcome and confusing fact that new methods and machinery—the most ingenious the human mind could conceive—with consequent unemployment, have led to the vast and uncontrolled expenditures of the past six years. The situation is such that we cannot hope, by plans now operative, to provide ways and means for our older citizens, for a long time to come. Our plight has been years in forming; the same trend continues. It cannot be conquered in the immediate future unless some drastic changes are made, resulting in wage earning opportunity to all.

The effect of providing employment by relief work has been most disastrous in many ways. Often it made the government a competitor with private business, especially harmful and discouraging to the small enterprise. Saddest, however, is the impairment of hope, ambition, and initiative in our citizens who have received this unemployment relief. Generations to come will feel the burden of the damage already done.

From the fruitless plans and bitter disappointments of past six years it is a relief to turn toward a goal from which we may reasonably expect to accomplish at least three objectives, necessary for a return of happier days.

First. Provide a permanent and more liberal pension.

Second. Help balance the budget, decrease the national debt, relieve direct taxation.

Third. Create in every neighborhood a buying power that will bring country-wide employment.

We begin with the General Welfare Act, gravely admitting that the present pension plan is inadequate to comfortably care for our aged, especially during days of illness. It is not broad enough to include those of 60 who are as needy and deserving as are older citizens, all of whom are unable to find employment.

The plan referred to pictures for either a modified transaction tax or gross income tax which will pay all citizens 60 or more years old, not gainfully employed, a substantial pension per month, depending on size of tax and volume of business. This would distribute, in state and nation, millions of dollars monthly, creating a buying power and employment in every nook and corner of our land.

This method of financing a pay as you go policy would materially relieve every municipal budget by definitely cutting down charity and welfare expenditures and likewise lessening expense of crime enforcement, both largely due to unemployment.

It is well to understand that the recipients of pensions are obliged to spend entire amount within 30 days after receiving same. This is a part of the so-called revolving plan to keep money continuously in use, always at work.

This procedure will cause those with tax exempt holdings to contribute their share for this worthy cause. The rich and poor will bear alike the assessment, making it fair to all. Taxes are collected by the government and no money paid to beneficiaries until received and expenses paid.

It is suggested that it will take a large number of employees to execute this pension plan. With present unemployment this is exactly what is needed since expense is not a part of tax burden.

There are those who contend that a pension will make men lazy and indolent, unmindful of future years. Be this as it may, it is a million times better, than to have our older people bitter against their government and fellowmen by reasons of dependency because of conditions beyond their control. Hope, instead of discouragement, makes better citizens, better homes and a better nation.

In taking this position for a more liberal pension I expect to receive some of the criticism that was placed on me at the time of introducing the first old age pension bill in our State. Then a country weekly termed me "the most dangerous man in America," but when I learn that 12 to 15 dollars is being set up to care for a person, including nursing and medical attention, and then find, at the death of recipient, that the part of the little home left is claimed by the state, I do not hesitate to endorse emphatically any humanitarian legislation.

Believe it or not, we American citizens owe it to ourselves to protect, so far as possible, our older people from the agonies of old age uncertainties. If we do not provide for our older people with a full measure of comfort and happiness who do not have a chance to care for themselves we have not fought a good fight, we have not kept the faith.

"I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."

Liked Junior Play

"Anne of Green Gables" Made Real Hit—Will Be Repeated Tonight

Following in the footsteps of its distinguished predecessors, the annual Junior Class play of Rockland High School last night scored a brilliant dramatic and artistic hit. "Anne of Green Gables," a modern dramatization of the great Montgomery novel, gave the youthful cast a delightful story to interpret and to the task the excellent cast took rare talent and verve.

Miss Dorothy Parker, who coached the group, found excellent material which responded extremely well to her skill as the finished artist of the play stands proof. So well in fact did the well balanced cast perform that it would be difficult, if not impossible to pick individual stars.

"Anne of Green Gables" will be repeated tonight at the High School auditorium and there is no hesitation on the part of those who attended last night in advising their friends not to miss so excellent a piece of entertainment.

Lack of space in this morning's crowded issue prevents adequate recognition of the fine work of the whole cast, but mention should be made of the outstanding work of Katherine Rice, at Anne Shirley, Maxine Perry as Marilla Cuthbert, George Robishaw in the role of Matthew Cuthbert and Joseph Dondis in the part of Gilbert Blythe.

Title Challenged

Goose Arey of Vinal Haven Would Meet Roes Or Anybody Else

To the Sports Editor:— I was very much interested in reading the account of the Star Alley Reporter when Ken Roes was crowned as bowling champion of Knox County. My interest was heightened by the fact that on that same day of Goose Arey had interviewed me to see if I could arrange a bowling match with someone on the mainland for this very same title. Perhaps the Goose has some underground connections, for he evidently had heard of this battle, and the smoke from the hot alleys is as intense to his nostrils.

At any rate the Goose has authorized me to hunk to all within the confines of old Knox, that he will bowl Ken Roes or anyone else representing the title, a 20 string match, first ten strings in Vinal Haven, and second ten on home alleys of the other party.

Before this appears in print I will have contacted John Thomas, so if everything is satisfactorily arranged there will be no articles to sign and the contestants can roll their heads off. I am afraid Ken will be swamped with challenges so I am getting in early to avoid the rush.

The only stipulation I make as manager of the Goose, is that wherever the match is bowled from home, that there be at least half a case of pop a carton of cigarettes, and plenty of other eating material within easy reach, for as guardian of the health of the Goose and having his condition to look after, I can take no chances of his dying of starvation when out of town. Hoping someone will take up the challenge the sooner the better. I am, yours for the championship.

O. V. Drew, Manager of Ol' Goose Arey.

EIGHT STRAIGHT FOR CAMDEN

Rockland Boys Very Much On Under Side—The Girls Cash In

(By Alton Crone)

Camden High School and Rockland High School basketball teams divided honors Tuesday at the Y.M.C.A. The Camden Mustangs, Knox and Lincoln Champions for the second consecutive year, with no league game losses, romped easily over the Rockland High team to the tune of 41 to 12.

The Rockland girls were more successful in a very fast, rough game by defeating the home team 29 to 16 in a hard fought battle. The Camden girls took the lead in the first minute of play and played superior ball throughout the first period which ended Camden 9; Rockland 6.

In the second quarter, with only a few minutes to play and a tie score, a foul shot by Drake put Rockland in lead, only to have Dickens drop a field goal for a one point lead for Camden, soon to be tied by a second foul shot by Drake, and a third by Thompson, making the score 13 to 14 in favor of Rockland. A foul shot by Camden tied the score 14 to 14 just as the whistle ended the quarter.

The third quarter was nip and tuck with Rockland ending on top 21 to 18, after Camden lost two star guards by the foul route. (Bryant and Grey)

The last quarter was all Rockland, with these rangy ladies allowing Camden only one point for the quarter while the orange and black scored 8 with the game ending 29 to 19.

The Knox-Lincoln League Champions opened the game by a quick side push shot by Fairbrother which paved the way for a onesided game with Camden leading all the way in a true Championship manner.

The Orange and Black was unable to get the ball through Camden's strong defense and were only successful in making four field goals throughout the game. A long shot by Billings, a basket by Cole and two by Karl accounted for Rockland's field goals.

Wadsworth's eye was on the basket, scoring seven field goals and two fouls for Camden with Fairbrother and Belyea scoring eight and nine points respectively. Young Bagley, Camden's left guard came through with five points and Fogg, right guard three points.

The game was fast, and at times rough, but at no time was Camden threatened in any way. This victory makes eight consecutive wins in the League and should assure Camden of a berth in the Western Maine Basketball Tournament at Lewiston as Camden's only defeat was by Morse High School in Bath by a score of only 29 to 17 on Morse's home floor.

STRAND THEATRE

Beautiful Mae West is a blonde and a brunette in "Every Day's a Holiday," her new comedy showing Friday and Saturday at the Strand Theatre. Here you see her as both

Which do you prefer? In order to steer clear of the police—who are after her for selling the Brooklyn Bridge once too often in "Every Day's a Holiday," blonde Mae West becomes a brunette!

It's done with a black wig, made by one of Hollywood's leading periquiers, and black mascara on the eyes and the result is positively startling! So much so that Mae's friends have advised her to become a brunette in her forthcoming productions.

Mae also acquires a French accent in "Every Day's a Holiday," which is a gay story of life and love in Little Old New York at the turn of the century, and among her boy friends are Edmund Lowe, Walter Catlett, Charles Butterworth, Charles Winninger, Lloyd Nolan—and Chester Conklin! —adv.

Poultrymen are using electric water warmers during winter weather because egg production increases when the drinking water supply is kept at a normal temperature. Laying birds will consume 20% more water when it is kept at the proper temperature, and, as a result, lay more eggs.

An automatic electric water warmer installed in laying houses will keep the drinking water at 40° to 50°, regardless of outside temperature. They cost but $3.00, and can be operated for two or three pennies a day.
